Strength in
Your Numbers

What do you like best about your profession?

Our firm offers a diverse array of services to clients so I am able to apply my skills in a variety of situations. When I contribute to a client's success, it's very satisfying.

What "on the job" wisdom have you learned that you just didn't get in school?

Being open-minded and a team player can greatly enhance your professional life. It's important to be open to suggestions from other professionals and peers. After all, we can all learn something valuable from the experience of others.

What advice do you have for a recent graduate?

The best advice I can give is to tell them to do what they are passionate about and to persevere through obstacles. Have confidence in your ability. View challenges as opportunities. Stay focused on what you want and believe in your value.

What qualities do you have as a woman that may give your clients an advantage over using a male-dominated firm?

Because of the struggles many women endured in establishing a formidable position in the business world, they can be more attentive to the struggles of the entrepreneur or small business owner.

What three words best describe you?

Optimistic, creative and resilient

What do you do when you are not working?

I enjoy being outdoors, walking in nature. I am awed by nature's beauty and strength and the environment's ability to heal itself.

What are your "words to live by"?

"When your ship doesn't come in, swim out to meet it."

Success lies in the ability to recognize opportunities wherever they may be, and using the power within oneself to seize the moment.
